

Presidential Arena Restored With TOPPS®!

The Rock Creek Park stables of the National Park Service houses the famous indoor riding arena built for use by our country's 40th President, Ronald Reagan. After Park Service review of the best restoration options, the twenty year old building now also sports Topps Seal™ and protection of the Topps system.

When asked why he joined the military, the Great Orator once said it was “in order to ride the Army horses on weekends”.

The final result is a beautiful, seamless, rust-free and watertight roof — a fitting tribute to a President!

Ronald Reagan's English forward seat saddle and riding boots. The saddle was a gift to President Reagan from the United States Secret Service. The boots were custom-made by Dehner's of Omaha.
